

Privacy Policy

We place great value on the protection of your data. In order to fully inform you of the use of your personal data, please read the following privacy policy.

Neither we nor our website use Cookies.

Cookies are small files that enable a website to store specific information relating to the user on the computer of the visitor during the time the website is visited.

Unfortunately we cannot preclude that Cookies are used by your browser, thereby automatically collecting and saving information on the web server such as operating system, reference page, IP address, time of access etc.

We collect and process personal data only when you provide it to us on your own initiative. We use this data only in a confidential manner for the purpose you provided it to us, and in conformity with the law. We do not provide any data to third parties.

We note that data transmission on the internet (e.g. communication per email) may involve security gaps. Complete protection of data from access by third parties is not possible.

This website uses Google Maps for the presentation of map information. When using Google Maps, Google also collects, processes and uses data on the use of map functions by visitors to the websites. Further information on data processing by Google can be obtained from the data protection notification of Google found under <https://www.google.at/intl/de/policies/privacy/>. In the data protection center located there you can also change your settings in order to manage and protect your data.

BGT Rechtsanwälte reserves the right to amend this privacy policy at any time in compliance with valid data protection laws.